I really liked the idea of being in another world, and all that can take me to another world is that I'm interested. Gradually I saw that cinema can accommodate both my interests in science and art. And, with the help of a book called Script: The Basics of Writers, I figured out how to write a script. So I sat down with a friend, and we wrote a little ten-minute script. We raised money to do this and shot 35 min; it had all these effects and patterns and matte shots, all these wild sort of things. James Cameron, writer/producer/director - Avatar, Shape of Water, Titanic, Terminator 2For the writer, most importantly, to put things on paper. (Syd) helped you put things on paper. Alfonso Cuaron, writer/director - Roma, Y Tu Mama Tambien, GravityIf I wrote the scripts ... I'd be holding a syd box around in my back pocket. Stephen Bochco, Writer/Producer/Director - Hill Street Blues, LA Law, NYPD Blue is a terrific course for screenwriters who are trying to get an idea of the Hollywood system. David Kirkpatrick, Producer What I Learned in The Sid Field Class was this is how Annie Hall works, and that's how Witness works, and then I start thinking: OK, how would I have done it differently than that? This concept of always being in training mode stuck with me to this day... Judd Apatow, writer/director/producer - Bridesmaids, 40-year-old Virgo, Knocked Up, Funny People Syd Field Course Wonderfully... Packed with understanding, intelligence and inspiration ... I learned so much about craft screenwriters, and work with writers, (now I have) confidence understanding the script writing process than ever before. Richard Roth, producer - Julia, Red Dragon sat down with Sid Field's book on how to write a screenplay, wrote a few, and when John Grisham saw one, we started working together. T.R. Pearson, novelist/screenwriter, co-writer with John Grisham in The Fugitive Jury... master script structure. Roland Joffe, director/producer - The Killing Fields (When I wrote Mean Girls: I Made a Million Ink! and I Did What Everyone Does. James Brooks, writer/producer/director - Terms of tenderness, news broadcast I went from reading his books to being taught by him on courses! I think one of us must have done something right! I thank him all the time for inspiring me. Frank Darabont, screenwriter/director - Shawshank Redemption' Escape. CNN, I'm based as water for chocolate on what I learned in Sid's workshop. I used to always feel that structure was imprisoning me, but what I learned was the structure really freed me to focus on history. Laura Esquivel, Author - How Water is for Chocolate Man who started a thousand specifications. David Michael Wharton, Creative Screenwriting I read a book that literally changed my life - a script by Sid Field. Ed Burns, writer/director - The McMullen Brothers Sid Field takes the screenwriter on an exciting journey... And it gives you no getting lost card to hold on during the trip. Anna Hamilton Phelan, screenwriter - Gorilla in the Fog This course is a virtual must for screenwriters.
